Finland Report Says Teuton
Force Is Marching
On Petrograd

(Reuter's Agency War Service)

Paris, August 14.—A message from Helsinki states that German troops are marching on Petrograd.

London, August 15.—The Stockholm correspondent of the Times states that the Petrograd Soviet has been transferred to Kronstadt and bands of starving armed peasants are marching on Petrograd to avenge the plundering of Red Guards.

Consuls To Quit Moscow

(American Wireless To Reuters) Washington, August 15.—(Received by French Wireless Station).
—The State Department has issued a statement giving a summary of the messages received from the American Consul at Moscow, as follows:

July 23.—Lening declared before an official gathering of the Soviets that war existed between the Russian Republic and the Allied Powers.
The diplomatic representative of Great Britain and the Consular representatives of France, Italy and the United States inquired of the Commissary of Foreign Affairs if Lenin's declaration should not be considered a declaration of war involving the rupture of the de facto relations and the departure of the Consuls. Tchitcherine said that it need not be; that it was a state of defense rather than a state of war and the Government desired to continue its relations with the Entente as it did with Germany under analogous circumstances. Three days later he said that inasmuch as Lenin's utterances were at a meeting behind closed doors at which the agents of the Allies were present only by special courtesy on the part of the Soviet Government, a public explanation could not be given where there had been no public utterance.

Allies Held As Hostages

August 5.—At a conference between Tchitcherine and the Consuls-General of Sweden, Japan, the United States and France, first, the Soviet Government gave a solemn assurance that Allied persons who have no diplomatic or unofficial character would not be molested; second, Tchitcherine stated that the Allied military missions would not be allowed to depart as already promised, and that the other civil persons arrested were hostages for the lives of Soviet members in the territory occupied by the Allies. Tchitcherine said that these persons were civil prisoners arrested in accordance with the practices of war for internment. He added that no responsibility could be assumed for their future safety, because Great Britain and France had already attacked Archangel without a declaration of war.

Consul-General Pole replied that he was without knowledge of what had taken place in the north, but warned Tchitcherine that the Allied nations could not be intimidated and the institution of a system of reprisals by the Soviet Government could only result in individual embers of the Government being held responsible personally and in the loss by the Bolshevik cause of whatever measure of respect it might now have in many minds in the civilized world.

Even Staffed Parliament Must Fight On Something

Tuchuns' Hand-Picked Legislature May Prove To Be White Elephant On Their Hands

(From Our Own Correspondent)

Peking, August 15.—The aftermath of the opening of Parliament is already beginning to strew the ground. It does not appear as if complete harmony existed among the members of even this parliament.
The first difficulty is the choice of speakers and deputy speakers, and over the deputy speakers a battle is already raging.

About the speakers there is not much difficulty. It is generally agreed that Mr. Wang Yi-tang shall be Speaker of the Chungyuan, and Mr. Liang Shih-yi of the Tsanyuan.
Mr. Wang was the Chairman of the recently dissolved National Council, and for his services in piloting through that body the new Election Law, the new Parliament Law and a few matters of that kind he has just been awarded the Pao Kwang Chao Ho decoration. He is a moderate politically, and was the founder and is still the head of the Anfu Club, a political organization that is increasing in influence. Mr. Liang Shih-yi everybody knows. He is the leading figure in the loose organization, so loose as not to be an organization at all, known as the Chiaotung clique. As between the Anfu Club and the Chiaotung clique, then, honors are even, so far.

The difficulty lies in the vicespeakerships. There are so many candidates that selection will be difficult, but chief interest centers in a duel that is being fought between General Chang Tso-lin, Tuchun of Fengtien, and the Anfu Club. The former considers that he has done so much for the Anfu Club that his nominee, Liu En-ko, M.P. for Feng-tien, ought to be chosen vice-speaker of the Tsanyuan, whilst the Anfu Club itself favors Mr. Wang Yinchuan, lately Chief Secretary of the Preparatory Bureau for the convening of the new parliament. A battle royal is raging round this question and is delaying the opening of the business sessions of parliament.

The struggle for the vice-speakership is reflected in the struggle for the vice-presidency. General Tso Kun was practically promised the job at the Tuchuns' Conference at Tientsin, provided he went off to the south and gained famous victories.

But Chang Tso-lin evidently fancies himself for the post, and friction has arisen in the Tuchuns' camp.
Nominally the friction is not connected with the vice-presidency at all, but with the activities of General Hsu Shu-cheng. There is a report, evidently fairly well based, that Generals Tso Kun and Chang Hual-chi have informed the Prime Minister that they will not move south unless he dismisses General Hsu Shu-cheng from office. Other Tuchuns seem to have signified their approval of this demand and it remains to be seen what the Prime Minister will do about it. General Hsu has for a long time been his right-hand man, and even, as some think, his directing evil genius.

It will be remembered that when the friction between President Li Yuan-hung and General Tso arose eighteen months ago, the squabble was described as a Fu-Yuan squabble, meaning that it was a squabble between the President's office and the Cabinet office. Eventually the responsibility seemed to be fixed on the President's Secretary, who finally resigned his secretarial duties and devoted himself exclusively to his parliamentary ones, which seemed to consist solely in opposing the declaration of war, and on General Hsu, Secretary of the Cabinet and Vice-Minister of War, who was removed from the former office.

However, General Hsu has continued all along to be General Tso's handy man. The question now is whether the Prime Minister will accede to the demand of the two Tuchuns. It is quite likely that he will not. He is very fixed in his mind once he has made it up—in fact some people describe him as obstinate, and in well informed quarters it is considered quite possible that a definite split among the Tuchuns may come over this issue, rather than over the question of the presidency or the vice-presidency.

It is not expected that the elections for presidency and vice-presidency will come on before September, and between now and then a great deal may happen, but as things look at present they are shaping for another pretty mess.

'Little Hsu' Accused Of Big Embezzlement

Chang Tso-lin Charges Him With Theft Of Million
Taels

A serious charge of embezzlement involving more than T's. 1,000,000 from the military funds of Fengtien has been brought against General Hsu Shu-cheng, the protégé of Premier Tsun Chi-jui, by General Chang Tso-lin, following Hsu's dismissal from the office of the Deputy-commander of Mukden troops. General Hsu has been detained and placed under watch.
General Chang demands that Hsu render immediately a statement of accounts in connection with the recruiting and paying off of the Fengtien soldiers. Premier Tsun has delegated a representative, Mr. Tsun Ting-yu, to approach General Chang with instructions to reach an amicable settlement.

direction of Mr. Reizel, who came here from Siberia to get men.

The local contingent will join the British Flag Presented To American Forces In Canada

All Montreal did honor a few weeks ago to a detachment of United States troops. The crowning event of the ceremonies was the presentation of the Union Jack, which is said to be the first instance of American troops being thus honored. The picture shows Major Woolnough, in command of the visitors, receiving the flag from Alderman Colonel Creelman, D. S. O., acting Mayor of Montreal.

TEMPORARY RELIEF GIVEN NAVY MEN'S WIVES

$1,000 Red Cross Check Aids Families Of Chinese In U.S.
Service; More Needed Soon

A check for $1,000 from the local chapter of the American Red Cross was turned over to Acting United States Marshal John Kavanagh yesterday for the further relief of wives of enlisted men in the United States navy who are destitute here pending the government's transmission of allotments from their husbands' pay. At the rate at which the money was paid out yesterday the Red Cross donation will last about a week or ten days, following which there will be urgent need for more funds unless the delayed allotments make their appearance in the meantime.

As pointed out in the story published yesterday, the majority of the hundred and twenty odd women affected are the wives of Chinese sailors, cooks and such workers enlisted in the American navy service, but there are a number of foreign women, wives of bluejackets, who are also feeling the pinch of poverty.

The plight of many of these women has reached a degree of seriousness which cannot be exaggerated. It is actually a matter of life and death in some cases and instances are cited wherein tragedy has already claimed its victims.

One case reported is of a woman of a family who was nearing the time of childbirth and had no possible opportunity of earning money herself to keep herself and children supplied with even the barest necessities of food and clothing. Everything movable in the way of household furnishings and personal effects had been pawned. The woman died before her child was born and when her death was reported there was scarcely enough clothing or cloth in the house to cover her dead body.

Another instance of the privation which has occurred is seen in the death a short time ago of the infant child of an American sailor. The husband's pay had been cut down by the allotment regulation and the woman had not come through. There was not enough money to cover burial expenses. The money was finally secured by application to the American Relief Society.

The situation for navy men's wives in China has been greatly aggravated by the delay which occurred before the notice of the allotment regulation reached Shanghai. The regulation went into effect in October, 1917.
Notice of it did not reach here until last February. Up to that time, of course, no deductions were made from the men's pay. After the notification reached here, however, reductions seem to have been made at a rate calculated to make up for the exception of the previous months and as a consequence the sailors have not received even sufficient pay to be able to turn over anything of their own salary to the support of their families here.

Still further difficulties loom ahead for the women affected when the long expected allotments arrive. The vouchers are made cashable by the United States Treasury Department and as there is no sub-treasury station here they must be cashed at a discount at the United States Post Office or the local banks. Also, the payee must be able to produce the guaranteeing signature of at least two dependable persons and for many of the people affected this will prove a problem. In addition to this it is probable that the cashing agencies will charge a rate of interest on the checks for the period of their transmission from here back to Washington.

Old J. H. Weather, Esq. Reports For Duty

Six weeks behind schedule, but vigorous and impressive as ever, Old Man Hot Weather blew into town yesterday and started doing business at the old stand at a rate calculated to make up for all delay.
Yesterday was the hottest day thus far this season, as a number of people seemed to notice. The thermometer grudgingly admitted 97.3 degrees above nothing, a figure which many perspiring souls were fain to stigmatize as but fairly indicative of the real situation.

When consulted as to the probable duration of the heated period the office expert delivered himself of a mouthful of dark blue language, tore his collar off and danced upon it and reached for a fresh kerchief. Whereupon the No. 1 boy doubled the ice order.

enemy on the alert and preventing him from detaching troops to France.

munique reports:

QUIET AT LASSIGNY

Allies' Captures Since July 18 Are 70,000 Prisoners, 1,700 Guns

(Reuter's Agency War Service)

Paris, August 15 7:55 p.m.—Under the constant pressure of General Humbert's troops between the Maas and the Oise the Germans have been forced to relinquish their hold on Ribecourt and are falling back along the Oise. They had made desperate efforts to cling to the town owing to the immense importance of its situation on the Compiègne railway to Noyon, but in vain.

The figures, as taken from the official reports of the captures made since July 18, the date of Marshal Foch's counter-blow in the Marne salient, up to August 15, are 70,000 prisoners and 1,700 guns. This is the greatest total capture made by the Allies during the war in such a short period.

Retreat West Of Bapaume

West of Bapaume, following his withdrawal at Hebuterne, on the British front the enemy has evacuated other advanced positions in the neighborhood.

The official communique issued this afternoon reports:

The night has been marked by fairly great artillery activity between the Aves and the Oise.

An official communique issued last evening reported:

During the day we continued to progress between the Maas and the Oise and captured Ribecourt.

East of Belval our infantry, having learned that an enemy counter-attack was being prepared, succeeded in capturing seven officers and a number of men.

In the regions of Roye and Lassigny very lively artillery fighting continues.

Last night our bombing machines dropped 32 tons of bombs on various objectives, including fifteen guns at Ham and Noyon, where big fire were observed.

Compiègne Is Relieved

London, August 15.—One of the chief features of the fighting at Lassigny was the lavish use of German gas, which sometimes caught the Germans themselves. The fall of Ribecourt is very important, as it commands the road along the Oise towards Compiègne, which is thereby relieved of the immediate pressure.

A noteworthy development is the fact that the army of the Somme, hitherto described as the group of Crown Prince Rupprecht, is now commanded by General von Boehm, who captured the Crown Prince's army after its recent defeat at the Marne.

Field Marshal Sir Douglas Haig
reports this morning:

There was severe local fighting last night to our advantage eastward of Ramecourt. Our line advanced slightly in this neighborhood.
A British patrol rushed a post northward of Albert.

Between Albert and Arras our patrols were active the whole night long and maintained close touch with the enemy. Further progress was made at a number of points and prisoners and machine-guns taken.

We repulsed raiders during the night-time south-eastward of Arras and near Merville.

The enemy's artillery was active eastward of Rebecq and in the Schepenberg sector.

The total number of prisoners taken by the British 4th Army since the morning of August 8 is now 21,844 and by the French 4th Army 8,500, making a total of 30,344 taken on the Montdidier-Albert front.
German Evacuate Towns
Field Marshal Sir Douglas Haig
reported last evening:
There has been local fighting in the neighborhood of Parvillers. We made progress and took prisoners.

Following his recent withdrawal in the Hebuterne sector, the enemy has evacuated his forward positions at Beaumont-Hamel, Serre, Puisseux-au-Mont and Bucquoy. Our patrols are advancing in contact with the enemy and have gained ground around the villages, taking prisoners.

Aviation.—Our continuous bombing by day and night of the bridges over the Somme and the enemy railway lines and junctions since the beginning of our offensive has held up the enemy's reinforcements and also forced him to employ large formations of scouts in an effort to protect his vital communications, but our concentrations of machines have effectively dealt with all opposition.

We dropped 21 tons of bombs during the day and 37 tons during the night on the above objectives.

The British and American machines raided an aerodrome from a low height, destroyed six machines and set fire to the hangars.

We brought down 21 enemy machines and drove down ten out of control. Six British aeroplanes are missing.

A German official communique issued yesterday afternoon reports: We repulsed all repeated attacks southward of Meris.

We also repulsed attacks northward of the Amiens-Roye Road and southward of the Avre.

A German official communique reports:

The enemy attacked westward and southward of Lassigny. His attack on both sides of Canny broke down under our fire.

Reuter's correspondent at French headquarters wiring at 2 o'clock Wednesday afternoon reports:

Situation At Lassigny

In this court massif the two key points for the French are St. Claude Farm and Ecouvillon Farm, the capture of which by General Humbert is deemed essential while the Germans are determined to retain them in order to menace General Humbert's right. Consequently fierce fighting is proceeding along the whole line.

Our progress is very difficult north of Gury, where the enemy is installed in the trenches we held in 1914, and we have gained no ground. If the Germans fall back among the hills of the massif they will probably retire first to the old French line and then to their former front at Pliant.

With the capture of St. Claude Farm and Ecouvillon Farm the danger of a counter-attack from Thiescourt massif is removed.

Whether after a pause for a rest another battle begins for the possession of "Little Switzerland" depends upon the plans of the high command. At any rate it will be a new operation with stronger material means on both sides.

Two Allied Offensives Part Of Same Battle

Paris, August 14.—The Franco-British offensive begun on August 8 between the Ancre and the Avre is a continuation and counterpart of the offensive on July 18 between the Aisne and the Marne, and their immediate results are similar. Firstly, the liberation of Chateau-Thierry and the end of the menace against Spain; the liberation of Montdidier and the end of the menace against Amiens. Secondly, the freeing of the great railway line between Paris and Chalons and also the line between Paris and Amiens. A rupture was rendered impossible between the French armies in the center and those to the east between the French and British armies. Thirdly, the collapse of the German plan which consisted of thrusting a number of salients into the Allied front, the progressive extension of which was bound to end in a dislocation of the front.

After the reduction of the salient at Chateau-Thierry, the salient at Montdidier has just been reduced and all the benefits of the maneuver of the German high command lost.

CONGRATULATIONS TO HAIG

(Reuter's Agency War Service) London, August 14.—Press Bureau. The King has sent the following letter to Field Marshal Sir Douglas Haig:

"I most warmly congratulate you and your troops on the happy results of the operations during the past week.

"I returned home with a feeling of profound admiration of our armies, convinced that in union with the Allies, we shall, with God's help, secure a victorious peace worthy of the noble sacrifices made, a peace which must be a surety to the coming generations against suffering such as the present world has endured."

The Prime Minister has telegraphed to Field Marshal Sir Douglas Haig: "The Imperial War Cabinet sends warmest congratulations on the great triumph achieved by the Allied arms in the third battle of the Somme and the Empire's heartfelt thanks to you and your most gallant troops."

How Poles From U.S. Defeated Germans Told In Telegram

(American Wireless To Reuters) Washington, August 15.—(Received by French Wireless Station).—A cable from General Archinard, commanding the Polish army on the French front, describes the fighting of the Poles recruited in America, saying in part:

"All our objectives were quickly reached. The Fifth Company, under the command of Captain Krzykowski Wolski, after having annihilated a whole battalion of the 66th Prussian Regiment and inflicted heavy losses on the rest of that regiment, took the famous woods, also capturing more than a hundred prisoners and twenty machine-guns."

American Trading Co. Sued In U. S. Court

An action against the American Trading Company was filed in the United States Court for China yesterday by Siao King-kee, a former engineering contractor for the firm. The plaintiff claims that he resigned from the defendant firm last January and at that time was indebted to the company. He alleges that a settlement was made whereby he was to pay Tls. 20,000, Tls. 15,000 down and Tls. 5,000 in 90 days, giving as security for the last payment a U. S. title deed. The plaintiff declares that he tendered the Tls. 5,000 but that the company refused to surrender the title deed and also refused to make over to him certain rights and titles secured by a Mixed Court judgment against a contractor with whom he had done business for the firm. He asks fulfillment of the contract of settlement.

Messrs. Jernigan, Fessenden and Rose represent the plaintiff and Messrs. Fleming and Davies the defendant company.

British Inflict Losses By Raids In Palestine

Successful Attacks Made On Both Sides Of Jerusalem-Nablus Front

(Reuter's Agency War Service) London, August 14.—An official despatch from Palestine reports: On the night of the 12th we carried out successful raids at various points on a front of two miles on both sides of the Jerusalem-Nablus road, killing 200 of the enemy and capturing 17 Turkish officers, 230 men of other ranks and 50 machine-guns. On the morning of the 8th the Royal Air Force and Australian units bombed the enemy camps in the vicinity of Amman railway station and obtained many effective hits.

The Imperial Camel Corps, co-operating with the Arabs, have seized Mudawara station, killing 35 of the enemy and capturing 120 prisoners and two guns.

Bandits Now Control All Shensi Province Outside The Capital

The Peking correspondent of the P. & T. Times writes:—The situation in Shensi is becoming worse daily, the provincial authorities not being able to cope with the rapidly spreading brigandage. So bad has it become that the Provincial authorities have no influence outside of Sianfu, the capital. Tsuchun Chen Shu-fan has been asking the government for some time past for the appropriation of funds and for supplies of arms and ammunition. Yesterday he again wired stating that the bandits in Shensi could be suppressed if sufficient funds were secured and an adequate supply of arms and ammunition were forwarded to him. Lacking these, however, the activities of the brigands throughout the whole province would rapidly spread, and in the end he would be forced to submit to the brigands and rebels so as to save the people from further suffering.

In connection with this statement I met an officer a few days ago who had been in Shensi commanding a force of men in an attempt to suppress the brigands. He told me that unless the troops sent there were absolutely loyal and had been tested elsewhere, it was useless to try and restore order. He explained that the force he commanded after but little fighting deserted, and either joined the brigands themselves or started to rob and loot on their own account. The few men who did remain loyal to their salt, were killed or wounded, and he himself was wounded in many places and only escaped with his life by a miracle. He further stated that brigandage was rife in every province and that was one of the greatest dangers to the country. These men had run away from the army carrying with them their rifles and plenty of ammunition and in certain instances had decamped with the machine-guns.

HAND OVER GUN PARTS TO CHINESE AUTHORITIES

Breach-Blocks Given As Security By German Disposed Of By Mixed Court

Two breach-blocks for a 3-pounder field gun and two for a 4-pounder, together with other ordnance appliances, alleged to be the property of Walter Scharff, a German, were ordered handed over to the Chinese authorities by British Assessor Grant Jones and Magistrate Kwan in the Mixed Court yesterday.

When Scharff was first before the Court last week, the Assessor suggested that the case did not fall within the Municipal regulations and yesterday Mr. G. H. Wright, appearing for the Police, agreed that there was nothing in the regulations under which the accused could be charged. He suggested that the property be handed over to the Chinese authorities.

Mr. N. C. Home, with whose client the defendant had left the boxes containing the property as security, stated that his client believed the cases to contain magnets. The defendant denied this and said that the Chinese was aware of the character of the contents.

Twenty-two Taken In Gambling Raid

Men Arrested In Place At 73 Nanking Road Fined $10 Each

Twenty-two Chinese arrested in a gambling raid made on a house at 73 Nanking Road Thursday night were fined $10 each in the Mixed Court yesterday by British Assessor Grant Jones and Magistrate Kwan. A large quantity of gambling paraphernalia was also confiscated, including 120 packs of cards, a number of sets of dominoes, eleven account books and many chips, or counters.

Chief Inspector Vaughan testified that the place had been under surveillance for 72 hours and was visited by Detective Sergeant Yorkie in the evening and found gambling going on. One poker game and a number of dice and domino games were in session when the Chief Inspector and a detail of Chinese police arrived for the raid. The account books seized contained the names of frequenters of the place and a record of the chips sold them for play.

General News

According to an inhabitant of Mukden, arriving in Tientsin, Japanese reservists in Manchuria are being called for service and are leaving for Dairen daily.

We learn from the Japan Gazette that Mr. Edwin Russell, son of Mr. Maurice Russell of Yokohama, who was wounded in France two years ago and invalided out of the army, has been appointed to the Intelligence Department of the British forces operating in Siberia, and leaves for Vladivostok on the 19th inst.

A skeleton discovered among the mountains in Abe-gun, Shizuoka Prefecture, Japan, has been identified as the remains of Mr. Ochiai Michinori, an official at the naval department, who has been missing since August, 1916, when he set out on a trip to explore the Japanese Alps.

The exact cause of beri-beri, peculiar to Japan and some other countries, is not yet known. It is now reported that Dr. Tanaka, of the Tokyo Imperial University, has completed an elaborate study regarding the cause of this disease, and proposes to read a paper on the subject at the medical conference to be held in October.

A service flag for Americans who have left Japan to join the United States military forces is to be given to the American community in Tokyo by Mr. Roland S. Morris, the American Ambassador. The flag will be kept at the Embassy in Tokyo and with it will be a war record for each man represented by a star. About 50 Americans have left Japan to offer their services to the United States military authorities, according to Major K. F. Baldwin, military attaché to the American Embassy, who is gathering the data for the service flag. Some business establishments in Japan have been furnishing passage home for young Americans who wish to enlist, while a number of men have returned at their own expense. The service flag given by Ambassador Morris will be kept at the Embassy as a permanent war record of Americans from Japan.

Mr. Howard E. Patterson, the American aviator whose projected visit to Japan we announced a considerable time ago, arrived at Yokohama on the 15th instant, and the following day visited the aerodrome at Shikibu. He began setting-up the machine he has brought over, with which he will undertake to carry mails between Tokyo and Osaka beginning August 18. This event is being arranged under the auspices of the Society for the Study of Aerial Mail Service, of which General Nagao, Vice-President of the Imperial Aviation Society, is president. The former society will sell picture-post cards, and buyers can stamp and offer them to be carried by the American aviator from Tokyo to Osaka or vice versa. He will complete the round journey in one day. We hope Mr. Patterson will be able to induce the authorities to let him carry some of the "telegrams" now being transmitted by train, sacrificially comments the Japan Chronicle.

A Korean has brought a suit in the Seoul Local Court against the Seoul Electric Company for ¥12,000 as compensation for the death of his father. The Seoul Press says the deceased man was crossing the track in Chongno 5-chome, Seoul, when he was knocked down by a car and killed on the spot. On account of the untimely death of his father, which is alleged by the plaintiff as being entirely due to carelessness on the part of the conductor, the monthly income of ¥70 obtained by the deceased from his farm work and other sources has ceased, causing the plaintiff an estimated aggregate loss of ¥12,000 during the next 15 years.

According to a United Press despatch from San Francisco, Captain Yamamoto Yoshio, of the O.S.K. Canada Maru, which recently stranded, fell overboard while the steamer was proceeding to Seattle to be dry-docked for repair. There are suggestions that the Captain committed suicide. According to a despatch received by the Osaka Shosen Kaisha, Captain Yamamoto shot himself in his cabin on the morning of the 7th instant when the ship was approaching the dry-dock at Seattle, and then jumped overboard. He left two letters for the steamship company and his family. It is believed that the suicide was due to his sense of responsibility for the recent accident to his steamer.

It is reported that in the early months of this year a proposal was made in Japan to establish a steamship company with a capital of ¥30,000,000 by combining the shipping departments of Messrs. Suzuki & Co., the Kuhara Company, and the Yamashita Kisen Kaisha. The proposal is said to have been discussed several times by those concerned, but it is now reported that the scheme has been abandoned.

According to an official report issued by the Japanese navy office, gunboats have been despatched to the northern coast of Russia. They have already arrived at their destination. A navy office adjutant says that since some Russian gunboats are on the coast of Amur and since there are naval men among the Teuton prisoners in Siberia, it is not at all improbable that they may make use of these gunboats for the purpose of commerce raiding and other mischief. For this reason the Japanese Government has seen fit to despatch war vessels to Russian waters as a matter of precaution. The presence of Japanese warships is said to have been welcomed by the Russians.

A "second Liebnowsky," the Temps calls General Count Max Montgelas, who has written an article in the Berliner Tageblatt protesting against practices of war of which he had been an indignant witness. Count Montgelas commanded on the French front at the beginning of the war, and was disgusted by the excesses committed by the German armies in Belgium and the invaded departments. He sought to treat the civilian populations with justice and humanity, and was retired for this cause. He took refuge in Switzerland, where he studied the origin of the war and the violation of Belgium, reaching the same conclusion as Dr. Wilhelm Muehlom, former director of the Krupp works, and Prof. Friedrich Foerster, of the University of Munich, both of whom have strongly criticized the German Government. Count Montgelas in his article in the Tageblatt was extremely outspoken for a German General, his charges against militarism supporting the ideas of Viscount Grey and President Wilson. The Temps adds that it is interesting to find a professional soldier confirming the German Foreign Secretary, von Kuhlmann, on the impossibility of a solution exclusively by arms.

It is believed that the Japanese authorities have requisitioned and are requisitioning a large amount of tonnage than was expected, though it is impossible to give full particulars. The requisition is in the form of charter by the Department of Communications, not the War Department. The charter-rate varies according to the condition of the particular steamer, but it is believed the rate is between ¥40 and ¥45 per ton gross for a steamer of 2,500 tons gross, the term being one month. This rate is about the same as if not higher than the market quotations. It is said that greater number of the steamers on the subsidised lines to Formosa and Dairen will be removed to meet the requirements of the authorities, says the Japan Chronicle, and it is expected that as a result there will be extensive changes in the disposition of N. Y. K. and O. S. K. steamers on the service to Formosa, Shanghai, Dairen, the South Seas, and India.

Appropos of the rice riots in Japan, it is of interest to note that the Minister of Agriculture and Commerce has stated that there are 18,000,000 koku of rice in the country and that this amount is only from 1,500,000 to 2,000,000 koku below the amount required to feed all the population until the new rice is put on the market. It is difficult to see upon what figures this calculation is based. The harvesting of the rice crop begins in September, the exact time, varying according to the locality, but hardly before the middle of the month. Taking the period that has yet to elapse before the new rice is available as one month it would appear from the Minister's statement that Japan consumes monthly 18,000,000 to 20,000,000 koku of rice. Taking the population of Japan Proper as 40,000,000, this would mean that each person, man, woman and child, consumes an average of one sho a day, which is absurd. Even if we put the period before the new crop is available as two months this would mean half a sho a day, which is still excessive. A healthy family of two or three persons might consume so much but certainly not the average individual. As a matter of fact the production of rice in Japan is approximately equivalent to one koku for each person a year. This would mean only about 2 go, or one-fifth of a sho, a day, if it were all consumed in its natural state, but from this must be deducted the part that goes in brewing sake, etc. Altogether it is difficult to see how the Minister arrives at his figures, unless we are to suppose that he is including the rice exported. Rice is now only exported under permit, but it is stated that the permits are not difficult to obtain and that a large quantity of rice has only recently left Japan. If this is in support of countries which are suffering from lack of food stuffs well and good, but the Government would at the same time do well to take the people into its confidence and inform them on what principles it is acting.

HELP NOW, SAYS KERENSKY

Tells French Bolsheviks: Trouble Give Allies Their Chance

Washington, July 1.—Diplomatic despatches received today stated that immediately after his arrival in Paris Alexander F. Kerensky went into conference and was so engaged for most of the day with M. Malakoff, who has been Russian Ambassador at Paris since the Kerensky Government was in power in Petrograd. Kerensky also granted an interview to M. Moutet, a Socialist Deputy. After the interview Moutet made this statement:

"Kerensky told me that he was astonished and pained to see that some French Socialists were capable of thinking that Bolshevism was really representative of Russian aspirations. Kerensky himself issued this declaration on his arrival in Paris: 'I cannot make any political declarations to you before having clearly set forth to my friends in the countries of the Entente and to their Governments the purposes, which are entirely in harmony with the interests of the Allies, for which I have undertaken this journey. I have no doubt that Russia will be able to rise again, but a helping hand must be reached out to her, and the moment is particularly favorable, now that the Bolsheviks have called up the hatred and indignation of all good citizens against them.'"

"This is neither the time nor the place to say more. I am going to meet the authorities and political personages of France so as to help by all the means at my disposal to bring out a supreme and definite co-operation between the Allies and the Russians who are remaining faithful to their given word and who know on which side right and liberty are to be found."

The Russian Social Revolutionary group at Geneva has sent this message of indorsement to Kerensky: "We approve of the steps you are taking with the Allies, and we beg you to emphasize the needs of our unfortunate country as well as to place yourself at the head of the national movement which is growing from day to day. Down with the Bolsheviks, the faithful servants of Prussian militarism! Down with Germany, the ancient enemy of the Russian State and people! Long live the Constituent Assembly and its national army! Long live Russia, one and undivided, democratic and Federal Russia!"

The Cricketers are in shape for this afternoon's baseball battle with Shanghai and the big crowd that is expected to turn out to the annual game will see a bang-up baseball game. KIRIN LOAN IS DIVIDED
TO MAKE IT PALATABLE

One Part Covers Forests And
The Other Mines, Is Report

(From Our Own Correspondent)

Peking, August 13.—According to a report in official circles, the Kirin forestry and mining loan has been divided into two loans, one covering forestry, signed by Mr. Nishihara on behalf of his Japanese syndicate, for twenty million dollars, and the other for ten million dollars, for mining concessions with the Exchange Bank of China. The arrangement for the separation of the two parts of the loan was made on the 5th instant, by Mr. Tsao Ju-lin, Acting Minister of Finance. If this is true, as it appears to be, further opposition by the natives of north Manchuria is useless, but the Government has succeeded in inserting in the forestry loan agreement clauses precluding interference with existing forestry enterprises in Kirin and Heilungkiang, and admitting Chinese in equal terms with Japanese to all future forestry and mining concerns.

The Russians, who have interests in north Manchuria, are left entirely in the cold, but there is a report to the effect that when stable conditions are restored in Russia, the Russian authorities will enter a strong protest.

Friends of Tsao Ju-lin have published in the vernacular papers denials of any connection between the newly promulgated Gold Note Law and the rumored loan of $50,000,000 from Japan for currency re-organization. It is absolutely denied that there is any truth in the report, which Mr. Tsao's friends assert has been maliciously circulated for political purposes. Foreigners repeating the report, says the deniers, are simply making themselves the tools of political parties.

The Civil Governor of Szechuen, who has been in seeking for some time, has established a temporary Civil Governor's office here, and as far as possible he is managing the business of the province from this office. He has also established a temporary head office of the Szechuen provincial Government bank, and the branch banks at Shanghai, Wuhan, Hankow and Ichang are dealing with this temporary head office.

Hsueh Ke-wu, the usurping tuchun of Szechuen, has sent a representative to Shanghai to enter into negotiations with Japanese financiers for the flotation of a big Szechuen provincial loan, secured, it is believed upon provincial taxes of various kinds.

Alaskan Film Coming

Motion pictures of Alaska and the life of the Esquimaux will be shown at the Apollo Theater next Thursday night. Gold mining, pictures of native seal hunters, a pole bear hunt, the annual all-Alaska dog race from Nome to Candle and return, a 500 mile trip with a U.S. mail dog and a monster walrus hunt are among the features of the travelogue. The pictures are not only new but unique of their kind and have proved a good attraction whenever they have been shown.

Obituary

Mr. J. E. M. Smith

News of the death of Mr. James Ross Middleton Smith, formerly chief manager of the Hongkong branch of the Hongkong and Shanghai Banking Corporation and sub-manager and inspector of branches in the Shanghai branch, was received yesterday. The flag of the Shanghai branch of the bank was flown at half mast.

Mr. Smith, who was 59 years old, was a native of Fettercairn, Kincardineshire, Scotland, where he died. He came to the Far East in 1882. In 1889 he opened a branch of the bank at Bangkok and in 1893 came to Shanghai. He served here until 1900, when he received the appointment as sub-manager at Hongkong, having been named as chief manager two years later.

He was known all over the Far East. While in Shanghai and Hongkong he was active in racing and sailing.

Mr. Smith was married to a sister of Dr. Sanders of Hongkong.

Rev. Stevenson's Memorial Service

Funeral and memorial services for the Rev. John Whiteford Stevenson, deputy-director of the China Inland Mission, who died Thursday took place yesterday. The memorial service was held in the China Inland Mission Hall at 4:30 o'clock. The Rev. D. E. Hoste, General Director of the Mission, presiding, assisted by Dr. James Stark, secretary of the Mission, and Dr. G. H. Bondfield, head of the British and Foreign Bible Society. Interment took place later at the Bubbling Well Cemetery. The Rev. F. W. Balled officiated at the graveside. A large number of sympathetic friends attended the functions. Two special tram cars and two trailers conveyed the friends from the Mission on Woosung Road to the cemetery.

The pallbearers were Messrs. G. Howell, A. H. Broomhall, J. McCarthy, F. W. Rawsthorne, M. Hardman and C. J. Anderson.

Floral tributes were sent by the China Inland Mission at Mohkashan, the China Inland Mission at Kuling, the China Inland Mission at Chikungshan, the Fellow Workers of the Mission Home, "Friends at Chifoo," Missionaries of the Scandinavian Alliance Mission in China, Workers in Yalgichow, the Staff of the Door of Hope, Mr. and Mrs. Edwards, Evans, D. E. and G. H. Hoste, James Stark, A. Hudson, Broomhall, M. and E. Hardman, A. and E. Moore, F. and K. Parry, C. L. Lee, Miss F. A. R. Baker, Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Nash, Mrs. F. W. Rawsthorne, Mr. and Mrs. C. P. Grant, Dr. and Mrs. J. Danock, Mr. and Mrs. N. A. Viloudaki and Yang Yi-sing.

At the memorial service, after the hymn was sung, Dr. Bondfield said a prayer and the Rev. Hoste spoke on the life and work of Mr. Stevenson. He began with a brief review of the outline of his life. Born in Glasgow in the year 1844, he was a boy constantly governed, it seemed, by a divine instinct. Between the ages of 16 and 17 he became soon a steady Christian worker. He sailed for the Far East when about 21, arriving in China the following year. His early field was Shaohsing, Chekiang, where he established a genuine and vital station. It is remarkable that Christian workers in that district today are the children and grandchildren of the early converts under Mr. Stevenson.

After his furlough in 1874, he spent a great deal of his time in traveling and it was during this period that he seemed to shape more concretely his great life work. He did pioneering work in many remote places where the Christian faith had never been heard of before. However, it was between the years 1888 and 1890 that he made remarkable contributions to the Chinese Inland Mission, when he secured the services of many young people and opened many stations in the interior. His contributions were wide and varied. He also administered the financial and evangelistic work of the Mission and by his careful judgment in distributing the workers and in establishing the stations, he became one of the most worthy Christian leaders and administrators. He had a Christian purpose. He was brotherly, kindly, patient and sensible in his work in expanding the influence of the Mission.

Dr. James Stark, a co-worker of the deceased for a quarter of a century, spoke of the personal qualities of Mr. Stevenson. He pointed out his great capacity for friendship, his love for the children and his thrift—to save in order to give to the needed what he could save and act as God's channel for administering the needs of others.

The singing of another hymn and a prayer by the Rev. Hoste concluded the program.

Dramatic Developments in Russia

RUSSIA may now be said to be in the midst of a major crisis, the first since the conclusion of the disastrous and humiliating peace of Brest-Litovsk. We are undoubtedly on the eve of dramatic developments in that country. Following closely on the heels of the announcement that the collapse of Bolshevik rule has begun throughout Russia, owing to the counter-revolution which seems to be under way throughout the country, leading to the flight first to Kronstadt and then to Pskoff of Lenin and Trotsky, who are being afforded German protection, comes the message from Paris to the effect that a report from Helsingfors states that German troops are marching on Petrograd.

This report in itself is sufficient revelation of the fact that Germany apparently has come to the conclusion that the time has arrived to bolster up the collapsing authority of the Bolsheviks in Russia. Although the news emanating from Russia is fragmentary, there appears to be no doubt that the days of the Bolsheviks are numbered. At the moment, the counter-revolutionary movement in Russia is mostly disorganized, but it is nevertheless countrywide and the Bolshevik system of government is everywhere collapsing. It is anticipated that the effects of the counter-revolution in Russia will probably be felt in the Baltic Provinces, and possibly even in Rumania, while German newspapers already report the inception of a republican movement in Bulgaria.

The mere fact that the Lenin and Trotsky duo should have been compelled to seek German military protection shows the extent of their loss of authority in the country which they have almost brought to the brink of ruin. The German newspaper Vossische Zeitung significantly describes the shifting of the German Embassy to Pskoff as a retreat from Russia and ruefully observes that although Russia is torn by civil war she is still able to find energy and unanimity to tear up the Treaty of Brest-Litovsk. The newspaper entertains the legitimate fear that Germany is being driven on to a fresh war with Russia, and it is by no means a fantasy to suggest that conditions may conceivably arise in the not distant future when the growing menace of Russia may force Berlin to return large armies to that region, the prospect of which event is causing gloomy forebodings in Germany, as reflected in the German newspapers.

The task of forcibly holding down the Russian people will soon necessitate strong German reinforcements being withdrawn from the western theater of war and being diverted to Russia, if that has not already been done, as it is being rightly feared in Germany that the fall of Lenin and Trotsky will furnish the signal for a national rally in Russia and a resumption of Russia's interrupted alliance with the Entente. The extent to which Bolshevik power is crumbling is evidenced by the deductions which German newspapers are making regarding the situation arising from the removal of the German Embassy to Pskoff. They state that when Dr. von Helfferich went to Moscow he found the Bolshevik rule on the point of collapse and fled before the staff of the Embassy left because he was afraid of his life. The newspapers describe both Moscow and Petrograd as being vigorously patrolled by police and troops with guns and machine-guns everywhere in anticipation of a coup d'etat.

The events that are now taking place in Russia constitute a complete vindication of the policy adopted by the United States with regard to the Russian question. The United States, which all along had been prominent in endeavors to assist Russia, both morally and economically, demurred, it will be remembered, to the proposal to give Japan a free hand in Siberia, believing that it would inevitably tend to throw Russia into the arms of Germany, from which it has been the consistent aim of the Allies to rescue Russia, and therefore, anything calculated to defeat that aim would be as damaging to the cause of the Allies as of Russia. This view of the United States was reinforced and strengthened by the Vladivostok incident, where Japanese marines, supported by British, had been landed in consequence of the murder of one Japanese and the injury of two others in an affray with burglars. The almost unanimous protest from all parties in Russia which this action on the part of Japan, evoked had considerable influence, for it exhibited very clearly the dangers of intervention.

The incident had the important effect among others of producing a disavowal by the Japanese Government of any intention to interfere in the domestic affairs of Russia. In the judgment of the United States Government also—a judgment arrived at after repeated and very searching considerations of the whole situation—military intervention in Russia was held to be more likely to add to the present sad confusion there than to cure it, and to injure Russia rather than help her out of her difficulties. The Entente Allies demonstrated their good faith and friendship towards Russia by landing only slender military forces for the vital purposes of protecting the military stores at Vladivostok and of assisting the Czechoslovaks.

Germany shows her "goodwill" towards the Russians by marching an army on Petrograd.

Export Combinations

(New York Times)

In a report concerning preparation in Germany and other European countries for export and import trade after the war, an officer of the War Trade Board says it may be necessary for us, in competition with the methods adopted or proposed abroad, to make "combinations of producers and shippers." He refers to the syndication, in part compulsory, of industries in Germany under Government control, and the prospect that in foreign trade, after the coming of peace, Government monopolies may do both the buying and the selling. The beginnings of a movement in the same direction are seen in England. Mr. Gerard, formerly Ambassador at Berlin, speaking of these German plans at a meeting of the New York Board of Trade a few days ago, said: "If the Sherman anti-trust law remains on our statute books we shall not be able to compete in foreign markets after the war, or to cope with the new German economic system." He would have the Sherman act repealed or modified, on account of the new conditions.

This law has been modified by legislation not mentioned by either Mr. Gerard or the War Trade Board officer, modified by the new Webb law, which opens the door for the making of combinations of American producers, to be used in our export trade. We shall need such combinations after the war for the preservation of our new trade with foreign countries. For lack of them our exporting manufacturers were working at a disadvantage in foreign markets before the war, and competitive conditions will be more formidable hereafter, when we must contend against export associations controlled and supported by Governments.

Although our exporting producers have for some time been permitted by the new statute to make and use export combinations, we do not hear that such associations have been formed. The delay may be unfortunate. Every industry which sells in foreign markets should have a committee planning for the co-operation which the Webb law allows. In this work our exporters can have help from the Bureau of Foreign Commerce and the Federal Trade Commission. There is an instructive example for them in the elaborate foreign trade plans of Germany and England.

Japanese Audacity

The Ministry of Communications has received a telegram from the post office at Lungkow, says the Peking Leader, to the effect that of late the post office at that port had been frequently visited by Japanese, who had the audacity to censor the letters. The Government is requested to make representations to the Japanese Legation against this outrage on the part of its nationals.

End Not In Sight

Talk About Winding Up The World Is Rather Silly

Several religious persons are just now convinced that the end of the world has come. The war has inspired this belief, which indeed is nothing more than the recurrence of an idea as old as the earth. It is not unlikely that as soon as the first man and woman got into trouble, they anticipated the end of the world. Human nature has never changed. Our race has always feared misfortune and hoped for success, and fear has led to the threshold of despair until hope, like an unquenchable star illuminated the darkness, and showed that annihilation is only a nightmare from which we wake to live.

We are really not very different from the cave man and his savage mate. Our clothes and our culture are only incrustations on the conscious organism which we call man. The notion that the world was coming to an end was not peculiar to Jews or Christians. The Greek philosophers, Empedocles and Heraclitus, held that eventually the stars would collide with each other and that all matter would be destroyed. Modern science, as we know, revolts against this assumption, and proclaims the indestructibility of matter.

The Jews believed that the world would end six thousand years after its creation. This view is today not taken seriously outside the fold of Judaism.

Even Christ's disciples did not expect the world to last many years after His crucifixion. He was to come in the clouds of heaven to judge the living and the dead, and He was to come soon. Many pious believers of the first century of the Christian era were doomed to be disillusioned. Signs of the end were to be "wars and rumors of war." Alas! through history there have been "wars and rumors of war."

St. Augustine was asked by Hecychius, Bishop of Salone, whether the end of the world was near. St. Augustine, in answering him, said he thought a few more years of respite would be granted to the human race. In the Middle Ages predictions on this subject were frequent. As the year A. D. 1000 was mentioned as the time when the world was to end, many legends were given to churches and monasteries during the years immediately preceding that date. But when that year had passed, the pious realized that they could place no reliance on prophecies.

In 1524 Stoeffler, a German, predicted that the world would be destroyed by a deluge. In England, France, and Spain persons who had cognizance of this prophecy went to live on the highest grounds they could find

Twinkling Of The Stars Proves Their Immense Distance

By Garrett P. Servis

"I believe that the twinkling of a star is the quivering of its light caused by the heating flames from the burning mass as it revolves in quick succession around its axis.—Am I right?"

To point out the sources of your error may be a good way to show you, and the many others who make the same mistake, what a star really is.

In the first place, there is no star in all the sky (except the one we call the sun) that is near enough to show a disk, i. e., a perceptible and measurable surface. And this is true not only when we look at the stars with the naked eye, but even when we employ the most powerful telescopes in the world.

The statement may seem incredible that a thing too small to be visible in itself can be seen by means of its light, but it is true of the stars, and it is also true of what are called "ultra-microscopic" objects, or objects too minute to be rendered directly visible by the most powerful microscopes, but which may be indirectly seen by illuminating them in such a way that they surround themselves with an apparent disk of diffracted light much larger than themselves.

When you look at a star with a telescope you seem to see the star itself, but you do not. What you see is a "diffraction disk" formed by the interference of the rays of light. The real star disk is virtually a mere point. The larger the telescope the smaller the spurious, or diffraction, disk appears, although its brilliancy is greatly increased with increase in the size of the telescope.

To satisfy you that a star, although as large as the sun, cannot have a visible disk on account of its vast distance, it is only necessary to make a little calculation with regard to the nearest known star in the heavens, Alpha Centauri. The distance of that star is not less than 25,000,000,000 miles. There is reason to believe that it is of about the same size as our sun, which has a diameter of 865,000 miles. Let us call it a round million miles for Alpha Centauri. Then, by the law of radius, the apparent diameter of that star as seen from the earth is less than one one-hundred-and-twentieth of a second of arc, or it is the same as that of a ball one foot in diameter placed at a distance of 4,735 miles!

If then, your swiftly rotating star could not be seen on account of its imperceptible angular diameter, much less could its "leaping flames" be seen. On the other hand, if, as you seem to think, the rotation itself causes the flickering, that rotation must take place at an absolutely inconceivable and impossible speed. Suppose there are five "twinkles" in a second, which would be a fair average, then, to produce them by its rotation on its axis a star as large as Alpha Centauri would have to revolve with a surface speed of fifteen million seven hundred thousand miles per second, supposing that there was one flash with each rotation.

The speed just mentioned is about eighty-four times the speed of light, and recent investigations indicate strongly that there can be no velocity greater than that of light, because when that velocity is reached the mass, or the resistance to increase of motion, becomes infinite.

But there is yet another objection to your theory. The stars are not "burning masses." It is not fire, or combustion, that produces the heat and light of the sun, and there are no "leaping flames," in the strict meaning of that term, on the sun or any star. There are frequent outbursts from the solar surface, it is true, but these are in the nature of explosive ejections, and what astronomers, for the sake of effective description, sometimes call "flames" on the sun, are not flames in the ordinary sense at all, but masses of glowing gas, which often move with great velocity.

Yet they do not make the sun appear to flicker, although it is a million times nearer to us than the majority of the nearest stars, and if the sun were removed to such a distance that its disk could not be seen, the irregularities of illumination produced by the outbursts of hydrogen and other gases would have no tendency to make its light appear unsteady, because their luminosity is negligible in comparison with that of the sun as a whole.

What, then, is the cause of the twinkling of the stars? It is due entirely to the unsteadiness of the atmosphere, through which the light has to come in order to reach our eyes. Out in space, above the atmosphere, there would be no twinkling or scintillation. When a star is high in the sky there is little or no unsteadiness in its light, and it settles down to a brilliant glowing point.

There are great differences in the amount of twinkling on different nights, owing to the changing states of the air. When it is all tremble the light of the stars trembles with it. The planets seldom twinkle, unless the air is exceedingly unstable, because they are so near that they have perceptible disks, and their light is not confined to a mere point. However, near the horizon, or on windy nights, the atmospheric unsteadiness is so great that even so large a planet as Jupiter may wink like a twinkling star.

How The Bolsheviks Broke Treaty With Czechs

(Specially translated for P. & T. Times)

The following translation from Golas Primora throws light on the dramatic appearance of the Czech-Slovaks in Siberia, which resulted in present Allied intervention.

On March 26, a treaty was made between the Bolshevik Government and the Czech-Slovaks, of which the following part is rather interesting, as it shows that Lenin and Trotsky follow the German "scrap of paper" policy:

"The Soviet of National Commissaries consider the demands of the Czech-Slovaks corps for immediate transport to Vladivostok as righteous. "The Czech-Slovaks proceed not as battle units but as groups of free citizens, who take a certain quantity of arms with them for self-defense from attacks by counter-revolutionists."

"The National Soviet appoints Commissaries to accompany them, and to preserve the unity of Czech-Slovak organized body, and the Commissaries are to report all incidents in connection with the transport of the Czech-Slovaks."

This is how this treaty was carried out: When a meeting of the Czech-Slovaks was called on May 20 in Chailabinsk, Vladivostok delegates from 5th and 8th Czech-Slovak regiments, upon arrival at Krasnojarsk, were arrested by the local Soviet and placed in prison.

Attacks in Irkutsk and Krasnojarsk on Czech trains were made by telegraphic order of Trotsky and Tschicherin, sent to all Soviets along the Siberian Railway line. This order stated "Germany demands that Russia shall disarm and intern the Czech-Slovak troops en route for Vladivostok."

In every place where Czech-Slovaks happened to be the local Soviets prepared to carry out the order. Czechs were secretly informed of the above and when Red Guards attempted to disarm them, they not only did not succeed, but were themselves disarmed.

At Novo-Nikolaevsk the Czech-Slovaks learned the intentions of the local Soviet and arrested the Soviet while it was actually discussing their disarmament and internment.

By this time the Czech-Slovaks were attacked all along the Siberian railway line, namely at Nisundinsk, Kansk, Yenyselsk, Marynsk, Krasnojarsk, and other places.

In every case when the Red Guards and Red Army were disarmed by the Czech-Slovaks, the population ejected the Bolsheviks and new local anti-Bolshevik Governments were formed; this was done without the interference of the Czech-Slovaks.

[It may be of interest to add that about 250,000 Czech-Slovaks voluntarily surrendered to the Russians. These were formed in 1916, by the Czech-Slovak National Council and Professor Masaryk, into one independent army. This army fought with the Russians against the Austrians and Germans on the South-western Russian front and especially distinguished itself in fighting at Bahmachu and Zborova. Part of this army was transported last Autumn via Archangel to France and the rest is at present along the Siberian Railway line, and in Russia.]

KAISER SEES DEFEAT
LLOYD GEORGE SAYS

Declares The Arrival In France
 Of A Million Americans Has Convinced Emperor

ADDRESSES PERSHING'S MEN
 No Peace Until Germans Accept
 The Conditions Laid Down
 By Wilson

With the American Army on the British Front, July 5, (Associated Press).—Until Germany accepts the conditions laid down by President Wilson she cannot have peace, and she can have peace tomorrow if she accepts them, David Lloyd George, the British Premier, gave this message to the American troops training on the British front after he had seen them at review today.

The arrival in France of 1,000,000 American soldiers had made the German Emperor realize that his defeat was a matter of time, said Mr. Lloyd George. The Emperor, the Premier said, had had many illusions regarding the war. One of these was that the new American troops would not be capable of meeting those of Germany, trained to the minute.

Premier Lloyd George reiterated for fully that the Allies did not covet a single yard of German soil and did not desire to dispossess Germany of her rightful inheritance or the German people of their legitimate rights.

The British Prime Minister stood in an automobile in the center of the sun-drenched Americans who have recently landed in France. Behind him were Viscount Milner, the British Secretary of State for War, and William Morris Hughes, the Australian Premier.

Source Of Great Joy
 "General—, I desire to congratulate you on being in command of such a fine body of men," said Mr. Lloyd George. "When I see them I am glad they are on our side, not on the other. We are anxious that many more thousands come across the ocean. The fact that you are here at all is a source of great joy to all of us."

"At the same time it is a source of great disappointment to the Kaiser, who never quite expected you. He was assured by his advisers that America was so pacific there was no danger of her getting in. Of course, a mistake was committed. He has gone from folly to folly. His next illusion was that even if you declared war you could not get here. His advisers said that all the ships would be sunk and there would be no means remaining to bring you across the sea."

"But you are here, not a part of a force of a few thousands, but a part of a force of hundreds of thousands, to fight for justice and the freedom of the world."

"Chateau-Thierry opened the Kaiser's eyes to another mistake. Yesterday in Paris I saw your comrades who fought at Chateau-Thierry carrying their flag. And they carried it high, proud of the fact they had not lowered it on the battlefield of Europe. The French Generals I have talked to have expressed delight with the fighting qualities of Americans. So the Kaiser's advisers and the Kaiser realize they have made another mistake."

"We are grateful that you are here to fight, but, of course, you are not fighting not only for America, not only for France, which has suffered more than any nation in the world has ever suffered, you are fighting for the liberties of the world. In your faces alone we have a source of great hope. We see there determination to win, and we are confident."

Why Allies Are Fighting
 "President Wilson yesterday made it clear what we are fighting for. If the Kaiser and his advisers will accept the conditions voiced by the President they can have peace with America, peace with France, peace with Great Britain, tomorrow. But he has given no indication of an intention to do so. Because he will not do so is the very reason we all are fighting."

"What are we here for? Not because we covet a single yard of German soil. Not because we desire to dispossess Germany of her inheritance. Not because we desire to deprive the German people of their legitimate rights. We are fighting for the great principles laid down by President Wilson."

"I am delighted to have seen these men here near the field of the greatest battle the world has ever known. We stand here as a great American has said, 'At Armageddon fighting for the Lord.'"

As Mr. Lloyd George concluded, the countryside resounded with three cheers in regulation American style. Previous to the review the Premier and his party watched American and British troops training together on nearby fields.
